

WISH LIST

Craft supplies help facilitators create age appropriate activities for children to process their loss, find ways to cope with their feelings and create ways to remember the person who died.

- Paper: Colored paper, white construction paper, big easel paper, standard colored paper, cardboard, strips of paper, etc.
- Pens: Colored markers, smelly markers or various sizes and ink pens
- White board with dry erase markers
- Colored glitter
- Beads & buttons with string and or cording
- Blank journals: for making books, writing letters, writing stories, etc.
- Play-Doh® (see recipe below): This is a wonderful medium for children. Much can be talked about and worked out with Play-Doh and either animal or people sets.
- Memory boxes for children
- Blank picture frames for decoration
- Age appropriate, grief related books
- Masks to decorate
- Laminating sheets

Gym supplies help children find physical outlets for their grief through movement

- Punching bag
- Mats for commotion room
- Nerf games: e.g., basketball, darts, etc.
- Balls: All shapes and sizes

Dinner supplies help families connect while enjoying a meal

- Paper Plates
- Plastic forks, spoons, knives
- Plates
- Silverware

Gift Cards from Amazon or other bookstores to purchase developmentally appropriate books for group facilitators to use during groups to introduce topics related to loss and give kids a way to understand their grief and learn ways to cope through story

Ipod docking stations and Ipods for group rooms so music can be used on a more regular basis as part of groups and group process.

Lighting (both table lamps and floor lamps) for group rooms

23" Flat Screen TV

DVD player

Refrigerator (please call for dimensions and features needed)